

DWA_04.3 Knowledge Check_DWA4

1. Select three rules from the Airbnb Style Guide that you find useful and explain why.

- Always use const or let to declare variables. Because not doing so will result in global variables.
- Start all comments with a space. Because it makes for better readability of the code.
- Leave a blank line after blocks and before the next statement. It helps with readability and helps the next developer reading your code to identify the end of one statement and the start of another.

2. Select three rules from the Airbnb Style Guide that you find confusing and explain why.

- Using string concatenation for strings that go over 100 characters. This is very confusing, because having a long string with more than 100 characters can impact on the readability of the code.
 - Not including the JavaScript filename extensions. I find it very confusing that this shouldn't be used, as it tells the user from what file the import is coming from.
 - Properties. Where it says that you should use the dot notation when accessing properties, but then it says to use [] bracket notation to access properties with a variable.
